

Market Access Strategies 2004

Environmental and Energy Sectors

On October 19-21, the International Trade Division's China Program will team with the Washington State China Relations Council, the University of Washington and the Northwest Environmental Business Council to host an event focusing on environmental business opportunities in the US and Chinese economies. The conference, which will be held in conjunction with the 2004 Environmental Conference of Washington & Trade Show (ECW), will provide a great opportunity to network with key Chinese industry and government players as well as representatives from other US environmental and energy companies. If you are interested in learning more about opportunities to give presentations, host site visits or take part in one-on-one meetings with Chinese participants, please contact Ryan McFarland at 206-256-6124 or ryanm@cted.wa.gov.
